DAISY MINE!

Words by W. DEXTER SMITH Jr. Music by M. KELLER.

Andante quasi Allegretto.

1. I loved a fair maiden, With sweet graces
2. Her voice, like the chanting Of angels, keeps 3. Her brief life is over, And under the
la - den, With bright eyes that, like stars, did so lov - ing - ly haunting My poor heart, while all else it would gladly re - clover She was laid, yet I know that I must not re - shine; And with cheeks like the ros - es, That summer dis - sign For one more such sweet vi - sion Of hours so e - pine, For I know I shall meet her And lov - ing - ly closes, There was none like that maiden, that Daisy of lysian, That were ours, ere grim death claimed that Daisy of great her, In a land that is bright with that Daisy of mine, There was none like that maiden, that Daisy of mine! mine That were ours, ere grim death claimed that Daisy of mine!

mine, In a land that is bright with that Daisy of mine!
